

BEFORE YOU DROP

Learn how dropping a class will affect your A+ Benefits!

BEFORE YOU DROP ANY OR ALL OF YOUR COURSEWORK, DID YOU KNOW:

- if you do not complete a full-time course load you will lose your A+ eligibility for your next enrolled term?
 - Full-time is defined as 12+ credit hours in the fall and spring semesters and 6+ credit hours in the summer semester
 - For A+ students, an "F" grade counts as a completed course for completing full-time requirements

- any courses you drop may be at your expense?
 - In other words, you may be required to pay for each course you drop. For questions please speak with a Financial Aid Officer in ADM 1204.

- if you are also a Pell recipient, your federal aid will also be affected by dropping coursework.

- dropping courses may put you at risk of falling below a 67% SAP completion ratio?
 - Dropping classes after the refund period will always affect your completion ratio, which may put you in jeopardy from receiving your A+ and/or federal funding, if applicable.
 - A completion ratio is a fraction of cumulative hours completed/cumulative hours attempted.
 - Repeating courses in which you have received a passing grade of 'D' or higher will not count for additional attempts (denominator) and therefore will lower your ratio. If you are repeating F's you may count these courses in both the numerator and denominator of your completion ratio.
 - To determine your completion ratio, you may speak with a Financial Aid Officer in ADM 1204.

CONSIDER THESE CONSEQUENCES BEFORE YOU DROP ANY OR ALL OF YOUR COURSES.
